

The transient modifier

---

The transient modifier is used to indicate that a field should not be serialized.

This can be useful for variables that contain sensitive information, or just variables that don't need to be persisted, for other reasons.